

Behavioral Health Expectations

Providers will use their clinical discretion to determine when/if the patient needs to be referred out for higher or different level of care. Providers will use their clinical discretion to determine the frequency of care, and whether the patient is appropriate to remain in their care.